

Biography

Linn Hendry was born in Canada and began her piano studies at the age of three. Her ambition to be a musician was inspired by her brother, a very fine violinist. She came to London as a teenager and studied with John Lill, Peter Katin and Andre Tchaikovsky.

She has been a prizewinner in many competitions and appeared on television and radio as a soloist and in chamber music. Her recordings of the complete violin and piano works of Medtner and Schnittke, the complete oboe and piano works of Britten have for the ASV label have been a critical success along with the Chandos recording of virtuoso cello music with Raphael Wallfisch. In concert she has worked with some of our best musicians including Raphael Wallfisch, Christopher Warren Green, Kalman Berkes, Alexander Markov and many others.

The strongest influence on her musical life was her late husband, the violinist, Jack Rothstein. They played both as a duo and in many chamber music combinations and she was often soloist with his "Fine Arts Chamber Orchestra" in concertos of Mozart, Beethoven and Shostakovich. The Daily Telegraph wrote of the performance of Mozart concerto K.271 "Miss Hendry gave a fine account ..with dazzling articulation."

In the last few years she has dedicated her time to coaching and playing with young string players.
